

Counting Graph Homomorphisms Involving Complete Graphs

Dr. Jeffrey Beyerl, Cameron Sharpe*, University of Central Arkansas

The purpose of this talk is to give a summary of our research involving graph homomorphisms. By using notions from graph theory and combinatorics, in this talk we will present several new theorems that place bounds on this probability for certain common classes of graphs, and show that we can ignore isolated vertices.

Keywords: graph homomorphism, probability