

A survey of flow network applications

Angel Woods, Georgia Southern University

In this talk we briefly discuss the origin and motivation for the study of networks and the flow network problem. We survey some well known applications of the max flow algorithm and explore how they can be modified to study practical questions on various topics. In particular, we present some ideas of the applications and solutions in financial flow problems.

Keywords: flow network, application, financial flow