BIO

John L. Renne is a Professor and Director of the Center for Urban and Environmental Solutions at Florida Atlantic University. He is best known as a global expert on transit-oriented development (TOD). His work bridges real estate development and transportation infrastructure, including resilience. In recent years, he has led interdisciplinary projects that embrace emerging technology, including big data, virtual reality, and the development of mobile apps. In 2021, Dr. Renne began a Masters in Computer Science and Engineering, focusing on Artificial Intelligence (AI) to enhance his research, teaching, and academic program development opportunities. In addition, he is interested in advancing AI and big data integration to real estate applications, focusing on the emerging crowdfunding real estate market.

Dr. Renne has significant private sector real estate experience. He was an Associate Director for EG Managed Property Funds, now a multi-billion dollar fund in Australia focused on TOD. In 2007, Dr. Renne co-founded and was the Managing Director of the Denver TOD Fund, which successfully closed in 2020 and established one of the largest TODs in Denver. He is currently the Co-Founder and Managing Director of Priority Funds, a national private equity fund that invests in sustainable real estate sourced through crowdfunding and private off-market opportunities. Dr. Renne is also the creator of the trademarked Renne-Greschner TOD Index® (<https://www.todindex.com/>) that tracks values of homes and apartments in TODs across the U.S. and applies modern portfolio theory in comparison to the FTSE Nareit U.S. Real Estate Index. Dr. Renne serves as a consultant for TOD developers building market-rate and affordable housing.

Dr. Renne has published four books and over 130 publications that focus on TOD, land use, transportation, sustainability, and resilience. According to Google Scholar, his work has been cited over 3,500 times. He has led over $5 million in external research funding for local, state, and federal agencies, and the Kresge Foundation. In addition, he oversees a $4 million endowment with the MacArthur Foundation in partnership with leading real estate developers in South Florida.

Dr. Renne also serves as a consultant to major national developers on TOD, and he served as chair for seven years of the Transportation Research Board of the National Academies Committee on Transportation and Land Development. Dr. Renne has served in leadership positions with the Urban Land Institute, the American Planning Association, and LOCUS: Responsible Real Estate Developers and Investors, part of Smart Growth America.

Dr. Renne is committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion and serves as the Chair of the DEI Committee for the Department of Urban and Regional Planning at FAU. Dr. Renne oversees over 150 students in the Bachelor of Urban Design and the Bachelor of Urban and Regional Planning Programs and he served as the Chair of the college undergraduate program committee and a rep to the university undergraduate program committee. Before joining FAU, Dr. Renne was an Associate Provost for Urban Initiatives, faculty member, and research center director at the University of New Orleans (UNO). At UNO, he was also the program coordinator of the Bachelor of Science in Urban Studies and Planning and he developed and launched the Master of Science in Transportation.
